Hints & Tips

Sweet peas can be sown anytime from September to March, but plants over-wintered in a cold-frame will be stronger when planted out the following Spring. They prefer semi-shade and will climb fences, netting or cane teepees.

Annual Sweet Peas are often blessed with a marvellous scent but last only one season, while perennial Everlasting Sweet Peas return year after year, but with considerably less fragrance than their annual relatives. Old fashioned, heritage and heirloom varieties are often blessed with the most perfume, although their flowers are typically much smaller than the blooms found on more modern hybrid varieties.

Spring Sunshine Champagne 2248E

Delicate soft pink and cream blooms with long stems and a heavenly scent, always popular for weddings.

£2.95 10 Seeds

Juliet 2252F

A modern grandiflora type with an unparalleled perfume, heady Sweet Pea with a delightful citrus overtone. The romantic cream flowers, on long stems, are blushed with apricot and always admired. An exceptional variety and absolutely perfect for cutting.
